

Take the stool out of colorectal cancer screenings.

Detecting colorectal cancer is no walk in the park. Between colonoscopies and stool (ie poop) samples, there aren't many easy options to choose from.

Butt, there could be a better way. With your help, we could change the way colon cancer is detected and diagnosed.

Before your next colonoscopy, visit trials.circuitclinical.com/colo-trial to learn more and see if you qualify for this research study.
